The Village of Miscouche

The pretty village of Miscouche near Summerside is the gateway to the Évangéline region, one of the main Acadian regions on the Island, and is home to the Acadian Museum of Prince Edward Island, whose permanent exhibition retraces the history of Acadians on the Island from 1720 to date. In addition, temporary exhibitions are brought in every six months.

Island Cheesehouse

Cheese is unquestionably one of the star products that tantalizes taste buds. People love their cheese on Prince Edward Island, particularly the craft-style Island Cheesehouse in Wellington on the Island's west coast. Testimonials extolling the quality and taste of La Fromagerie's products abound, which make the Island Cheesehouse a symbol of provincial and national pride!

The Bottle Houses

Some people recycle old bottles to put them to a new use, while others use them to build houses! Such is the case of the founder of this attraction, the late Édouard Arsenault. He built the first bottle village in Prince Edward Island. Three buildings will amaze you and other visitors for a 37 th year in a fabulous natural setting.
